Charles Darwin is a clever human same as us. We have all organs he has. He thought out a lot of things so as many great people. Probably some of us from this world also can think out something important. This is the reason why everyone on this world can dig in for more understanding and bring for discussion. This book came to start as a fiction or introduction for reading and public introduction. The only difference from other books is:-This book is short but everything is like brief summary written to leader information - a quickest way to know the important story in briefing, and can ask afterwards.

Besides, smart people can read and add further comment to lead this world to have existing truth like people talking we can fly and steel ships can float some hundred years ago. We can listen, join discussion, dig in, and many things will become our daily knowledge and become mystery no more.

This book is the summary edition of the story - to let reader know more things in a much quicker way.
