Once there was a yellow robot cat called Baron. He was brave and liked adventures. He loved stars. Sometimes he looked up at the sky. Sometimes he used his telescope to watch stars.

Then one day Baron had a dream. It was a dream about a trip to space.

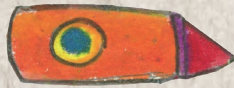

The next day, Baron invited Richard, Carolyn and Michelle to his garden. They put on space goggles and started building their red rocket.

Baron held the nose cone and said, "How can I put it on the rocket?"

Carolyn gave her screws to Baron.

"Thank you, Carolyn," said Baron.
